

TRAUMA MAP

Significant traumatic events can be felt through many generations as the effects diffuse themselves. This is especially true if the culture of the time-period was resistant to treatment or treatment was unavailable to key links in the chain.

